

2011 NATIONAL CONFERENCE OCTOBER 21-22 / PHOENIX, AZ

Pre-Conference Event October 20, 2011

Missional Church, Missional God, Missional Story

Tim Chester and Dan Cruver

Missional church is not simply the latest fad. It's rooted in the trinitarian character of God and the story of the Bible. Explore the foundations for shaping life around gospel, community and mission along with practical application for church life and the implications for orphan care.

Dr. Tim Chester is a church planter with The Crowded House in Sheffield, England, and co-director of The Porterbrook Network, which equips individuals and churches to rediscover mission. He's the author of more than a dozen books including The Message of Prayer, Good News to the Poor, You Can Change, and Total Church, co-written with Steve Timmis. Tim's blog focuses on missional church and Reformed spirituality. He is married with two daughters.
